Speaking Engagements

Loan Chow, Director of Wills and Estates at YHC Lawyers, regularly presents education sessions about Wills and Estates at retirement villages, for community groups and in partnership with education organisations.

Loan shares her experiences and insights about:

- Wills gone wrong – or no Will at all – what happens next?
- Tips and Traps about Enduring Powers of Attorney
- The importance of Advance Health Directives
- How to protect yourself and the people you're meant to be looking after
- What happens when someone passes away

Loan also provides onsite educational training sessions for accounting and financial advisory firms about how to initiate estate planning conversations with clients and how to identify when a client might need expert advice and support in making sure their families are properly protected with an estate plan.

Speaker Information

Loan graduated from UQ with a dual degree in Law and Psychology, an unlikely combination at the time, but one which proved to be very useful in compassionately helping families navigate the law in sensitive circumstances.

Her passion in providing fee certainty to clients when assisting with estate planning or administration has helped many families through complex and emotionally difficult decisions.

She works regularly with clients of banks, industry super funds and financial advice companies.

Loan was recognised in the Doyles' Guide as a Recommended Lawyer for Wills and Estates in Queensland in 2019, 2020 and 2021.

Awards

2021 - Recommended Wills, Estates & Succession Planning Lawyers (Queensland)

2020 - Recommended Wills, Estates & Succession Planning Lawyers (Queensland)

2019 - Recommended Wills, Estates & Succession Planning Lawyers (Queensland)

Testimonials of Event organisers and attendees

"Many thanks for the excellent and most informative talk you gave to the residents yesterday at our community."

"Thank you for yesterday's presentation. I have received many genuine compliments on the quality of the information given. Most of the extra handouts that I took have already been taken."

"Your presentation was entertaining, informative and stimulating and thoroughly enjoyed by the audience. The feedback from members on your session has been extremely positive and it was obviously enjoyed by all who attended. We do hope that you might consider presenting again next year."
